 The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper, and also the local news published therein.

It all depends upon the size of the allies' reserves.

Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire announces that he is going to retire from the U. S. Senate in 1921. Considering that he is 81 years of age now, this seems to be a wise decision.

A short time ago the food administration announced that "hot cross buns" were forbidden to be sold, yet we note a Brattleboro man advertising in big type, "Order your hot cross buns."

The Kaiser seems to take delight in continuing his blasphemy that God is carrying a bloody sword in behalf of Germany and all Germany's crime. It would be an interesting revelation were the heart and mind of William II. laid bare.

With Odessa back in Russian hands, there is reason to hope that Petrograd will get out of the petrified state and defend itself against the invaders. The Teuton columns on the eastern front are probably merely skeletonized formations, with the bulk of the troops composing them sent to the western front.

The loss of 600 guns is by no means a disheartening blow to Great Britain, albeit mortifying because the British ever since the beginning of the war have pointed with pride to the small loss sustained in this war equipment. The sacrifice of so many guns was probably anticipated in the contemplation of the threatened drive of the Germans and, no doubt, due reckoning was taken as to the means to make good the loss. So the sacrifice of 600 guns is merely an incident of a great battle.

Those long motor trains of German wounded coming back from the front are telling the story of the progress of the battle better than the German official reports have been portraying it, for the German official reports tell the people only the brighter side of the situation, how Germany is winning and the allies are constantly losing. Craftily, the Kaiser tells nothing to "his" people about the fearful cost he is paying for the territory which he voluntarily gave up in 1916. The long lines of the wounded soldiers are filling in the facts of the battle for the German people.

WEBSTERVILLE

Funeral of Angus McLeod Will Be Held To-morrow.

The remains of Angus L. McLeod, who died of tuberculosis at Glenclyffe, N. H., were brought over the Montpelier and Wells River railroad Thursday to his home here. He had been ill the past three years. He leaves besides his wife, Anna, four sons, John with the United States army in Baltimore, Md., Norman of Springfield, Mass., Murdo and Christopher of this place; one brother, Angus of Hardwick, and three sisters, Mrs. Dan McFarland and Mrs. Harry Clark of Granvilleville and Mrs. William MacDonald of Milan, P. Q. Funeral services will be held at the home at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon and interment will be in the family lot in the Wilson cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Amedy returned Thursday from Berlin, N. H., where they visited relatives several weeks. Norman McLeod of Springfield, Mass., arrived here yesterday, called by the death of his father.

Heal your child's sick skin with Resinol

The minor skin troubles to which infants and children are subject—itching patches, bits of chafing, rash or redness—so easily develop into serious, stubborn affections, that every mother should have Resinol Ointment on hand to check them before they get the upper hand. We recommend Resinol for this with the utmost confidence because of its harmless ingredients and its success in healing eczema and similar serious skin diseases.

RED BLOODED MEN WIN OUT

They Are Always on Top

It is a fact that red-blooded men and women are at the top in every walk of life. Men and women with the driving force of red blood, rich in iron and phosphates, do things, they get results.

Red-blooded women are the heads of the happiest and most contented homes. They have the will and the desire to be real companions and helpmates.

Leadership and happiness is only for the men and women who are willing to keep their blood and nerves strengthened and nourished with iron and phosphates.

A prominent doctor says: "It is a crime that so many men and women lack the rich, red blood and strong, steady nerve to achieve their ambitions. It is all the more so because thin, watery blood is unnecessary, as rich, red blood and strong nerves are within the grasp of everyone. Phosphated Iron makes pure blood by making new blood. It gives strength, brings color to the cheeks, increases the weight and appetite, drives away the blues and those sleepless nights, steadies and renews your nervous energy, makes you feel like a live one once again."

There must be something in it. Every one who tries it is loud in praise of Phosphated Iron, and you have got to show people these days.

To insure physicians and their patients receiving the genuine Phosphated Iron, it has been put up in capsules only. Do not allow dealers to give you pills or tablets. Insist on capsules.

Protection

Any man who carries life insurance in a good old-line company knows that he must pay the company an adequate compensation for carrying his risk.

He calls this "protection" and pays his quarterly, semi-annual or annual payments without a whimper.

DID YOU EVER THINK OF THE PROTECTION WHICH YOU ARE AFFORDED BY THAT FAR-FLUNG BATTLE LINE IN FRANCE, PROTECTION FROM WHAT MIGHT BE A THOUSAND TIMES WORSE THAN DEATH?

Is there any money value that we can put upon this protection?

The good old-line insurance company stands ready to pay you a money consideration in case of your decease or impaired earning power, but the boys in France are the insurance company that protects and guarantees what money can never buy. They are not only protecting your very life, but they are safeguarding the principles of free government, free institution and insuring your right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Now are you paying anything for this protection? Just ask yourself thoughtfully this one question. You can hear your conscience echo, "No."

You may show your appreciation of this protection and pay your premiums on this insurance here in the form of War Savings Stamps or a savings account.

COME IN TO-DAY.
